Experienced Sales + Customer Service
The key...great customer service. We love the marine industry and one of our core missions is to help raise the customer service bar in this industry.

However, the internet has completely transformed the way we do business. While traditional sales principles still very much apply (such as building a solid relationship with the customer, earning their trust, adding value, customer qualification, etc), how you get there is now very different. It used to be that a customer valued a solid handshake and an honest smile. In a traditional face to face environment, skilled salespeople could qualify a customer based on body language, personality type, etc. In today's internet age, many buyer Cabo boats have a real cult following for their rugged construction and sea kindly manners. This example is a rare trailerable 24-foot pilothouse with V-Berth.

The unobstructed deck is flush so there is a lot of room with nothing to get in the way. This boat has a custom bait tank with bait up trays. An oversized fish locker will provide plenty of space to keep your catch. There is a swim step, flood lights, and a remote spotlight.

In the cabin the helm station is well equipped with full instrumentation and a comfortable captain's chair. Center is the Furuno multifunction display with radar, GPS, fish-finder and electronic compass. To port is another comfortable captain's chair.

There is overhead rod storage in the cabin and rod storage on both gunnels. The pilothouse offers an enclosed head with a toilet plumbed to a holding tank and a small stainless steel sink.

In addition to the v-berth racks the table makes into a 6'6" bunk. The galley offers a microwave, large sink and a refrigerator that runs off an inverter.

Power is provided by a Mercruiser MCM 7.4L big block V8 with just 337 hours on it.

We are looking for people all over the country who share our love for boats. If you have a passion for our product and like the idea of working from home, please visit [Careers \[dot\] PopSells \[dot\] com](#) to learn more.
