When it comes to wakeboarding, this boat has all the features you will need, from the wake control to the context drive system to the great stereo system.

This is powered by twin high output jet drive engines. The articulated keel hull design allows for steady tracking at high speeds and better low-speed maneuverability.

The 242X is built for wakeboarding. While you can tow the kids on a tube from the transom-mounted hook, the real action happens when you hook up a tow rope to the overhead mount and give it full throttle. When you're pulling wakeboarders, fill up the three big ballast bags to add some seriously fun size to your wake.
