Very rare north sea fishing boat, this Starfish 8 is great for Maine waters

This is a classic North Sea pilot house style fishing boat that has been upgraded with a nice interior that makes it a great daytripper or a daily commuter for those folks that live on the islands. With the addition of a head and stove, this boat could be a nice weekender as well.

The teak cockpit is huge and makes a great fishing deck or lounging area when the bimini and full enclosure is set up. The entire back deck can be covered with the bimini and enclosed on all three sides. There are two nice cushions that cover the engine box.

The bimini, cushions and side canvas are in great shape.

There are ample floor access panels that make for easy maintenance on all of the boat systems.

She is currently sitting on a mooring and is used regularly to commute to the islands and for recreational fishing.
