Description

Stock #505598 - Well-maintained, on a boat lift with only 250 Hours. Spacious cockpit with minimal wear. Overnight comfort & MerCruiser powerThe combination of low engine hours, a well-designed cockpit, and genuine overnight accommodations makes this a versatile express cruiser for cruising, entertaining, and weekend escapes. Originally used as a lake boat, now Intercoastal, this 250 CR is well-kept, on a boat lift, and retains its original seating, showing minimal wear. Crownline put considerable thought into the cockpit layout. The adjustable double helm seat swivels toward the portside lounge or aft, while the three-position aft bench converts into a full sunpad without filler cushions. A removable cockpit table, generous storage, and a wet bar with cooler storage make the space equally practical for a day with family and friends or a quiet afternoon on the water. It's a layout owners appreciate because the cockpit can adapt easily to how you want to use the boat. Below deck, this 250 CR is well equipped. The cabin features a V-berth with filler cushions that convert it to dinette seating, a mid-cabin berth, galley with refrigerator, microwave and electric cooktop, and an enclosed head with shower, sink and vanity. If you're looking for a boat that can handle an afternoon on the water just as comfortably as a weekend away, this 2008 Crownline 250 CR is worth a closer look.
