Description

Stock #502845 - SALE PENDING Cruising Catamaran! In-mast Furler! Twin Yanmar Diesels! Newer Batteries! Autopilot & Radar! This 1997 Fountaine Pajot 35 Tobago offers the space, stability, and shallow-water capability that have made cruising catamarans so popular with sailors looking for comfortable extended adventures on the water. At approximately 35 feet in length with an impressive 19-foot beam, the 35 Tobago provides an exceptionally spacious platform for its size. The twin-hull design offers excellent stability along with a shallow approximately 3-foot draft, opening up cruising destinations and anchorages that deeper-draft sailboats may not be able to access. Power is provided by twin Yanmar 2GM20 diesel engines, providing auxiliary power for maneuvering, docking, and cruising when the wind isn't cooperating. The twin-engine configuration also provides excellent maneuverability around the marina. According to the seller, both engines were serviced in the Spring of 2026, including new belts, impellers, oil changes, fuel filters, and cleaned heat exchangers. This recent maintenance is a valuable benefit for the next owner. The electrical system has also received recent attention. According to the seller, all batteries were replaced in 2026. Another standout upgrade is the boat's sound system. The seller reports an investment of approximately $8,000 to $9,000 in upgraded audio equipment, creating an impressive entertainment setup for relaxing at the dock, underway, or enjoying an evening at anchor. Under sail, the 35 Tobago provides enjoyable performance with a generous sail plan. The boat is equipped with in-mast furling, making sail handling more convenient. According to the seller, the sails were replaced by the previous owner and are believed to be only a few years old. The spacious cockpit provides plenty of room for relaxing and entertaining while underway or at anchor. The wide beam and catamaran configuration create generous outdoor living areas and make moving around the boat comfortable. Step inside and you'll find the bright, open salon that cruising catamarans are known for. Large windows provide plenty of natural light and visibility, creating an inviting gathering space with considerably more interior room than typically found aboard a similarly sized monohull. The galley provides the necessities for preparing meals aboard, while the three-cabin layout offers sleeping accommodations for approximately six, making this Tobago well suited for cruising with family and friends or spending extended periods aboard. Navigation equipment includes autopilot and radar, valuable additions for longer passages and changing conditions. One of the Tobago's greatest advantages is its combination of interior volume and manageable size. With its wide beam, shallow draft, twin diesel engines, comfortable accommodations, recent engine service, recent batteries, upgraded audio system, and newer reported sails, this catamaran is an impressive vessel.
